

Figure 1. Map of Elwha River in northwestern Washington showing water-quality monitoring station 12046260, Elwha River at Diversion, near Port Angeles, where turbidity and suspended-sediment concentrations were measured, and streamflow-gaging station 12045500, Elwha River at McDonald Bridge, near Port Angeles, where continuous water discharge was recorded.